

Tangerum

Cosy and comfortable after a day's skiing, beautiful sunset views from the balcony all year round, the quiet interrupted only by the bird calls and frogs.

Tangerum is an Aboriginal word from the local people and comes from the ceremony that took place when visiting strangers arrived in an area. It was a formal event ensuring the visitors were recognised and protected during their stay. The hosts gave gifts to the visitors to acknowledge that the visitors could use the resources of the area. This ceremony is also known as the 'Freedom of the Bush'.

Tangerum is just over two hours from Melbourne and under fifteen minutes from Mansfield.

- Drive through Mansfield and head towards Whitfield on the Tolmie Rd for 4km;
- Turn right on to Barwite Rd;
- After 6 km turn left on to Old Tolmie Rd and Tangerum is a further 5 km, across two small bridges and 850 metres past Melba Road on the left.
